who is undertaking (full title and number of course)

.....

I declare I have read the following and understand my obligations under the Ozone Protection and Synthetic Greenhouse Gas Management Regulations 1995.

A trainee is entitled to carry out work in relation to RAC equipment while undertaking the training or assessment for which the licence was granted while under the supervision of the holder of a licence that entitles the holder to engage in the work for which the licensee is being trained or assessed. Carrying out work in relation to RAC equipment means doing anything with a refrigerant that involves a risk of refrigerant being emitted.

Licensees that are supervising a refrigeration and air conditioning trainee licensee must ensure that any work carried out by the trainee licensee is done in accordance with the standards set out in column 2 of Table 135 that relates to the work.
